

The Jewish Studies Program, Pan-African Studies and Kent Hillel present

From Black Power to Jewish Radicalism: A Look at Student Activism in the 1960s

---

Wednesday, October 19, 2005
8:00 pm
Room 133 Bowman Hall

Free Admittance

Join City University of New York Professor

Dr. Michael Staub

as he chronicles how much the Jewish student activism of the late sixties and early seventies really was less a rebellion against the so-called excesses of Black Power, and more an adaptation—even imitation—of Black Pride for a Jewish context. Accompanied by compelling slides, this talk will interest anyone wishing to know more about the powerful period of the 1960s in Jewish, Black and American life.